

q/context complementarity is promising, not yet fold-stable

The average fusion gain survives

The reference-CDF arm never uses the held candidate distribution.

But the every-fold claim does not survive

Crossfold references come from different fitted models: deployment-mechanics stress test, not deployable calibration. Adaptive study; no independent test.